

Over the next 18 months we are taking part in Housing Futures, a sector-wide innovation programme.

Housing Futures is bringing together housing associations from across the UK to collaborate to solve housing's biggest challenges.

The first phase in the programme is to Identify the challenges.

We want to hear from you:

What do you think are the big housing challenges that we need to collaborate to solve as a sector?

The challenges identified must:

- * affect a significant number of people
- * be a problem that is likely to keep getting worse
- * be something which cannot be solved by one housing association alone

Send your thoughts to at futures@housing.org.uk by Monday 10 February. Your regional steering group will choose one challenge area for the region to tackle for the next 18 months.

Follow the conversation  #UKHousingFutures

What do you think are the biggest challenges for the housing sector? We need to hear from you.

Together we have the opportunity to let the National Housing Federation know what we see as being the big challenges that we and the people we house are facing.

Join us at a workshop to delve into these questions:

Date:

Time:

Location:

What do you think are the biggest challenges for the housing sector?

Follow the conversation  #UKHousingFutures